

Cardinal Newman Reading

Never had man kinder or more indulgent friends than I have had. . .Speaking of my blessings, I said, “Blessings of friends, which to my door, unasked, un hoped, have come.’ They have come, they have gone. They came to my great joy, they went to my great grief.

Cardinal Newman, Apologia Pro Vita Sua